THE INVENTOR'S GENIUS.

Engineering in Military and Commercial Warfare.

War is always a terrible possibility in the present condition of European politics, but when divested of its personal and political details it cannot but possess a peculiar fascination for the engineer, especially since engineering has so largely entered into all the methods of modern warfare. Since the last great war the machinery of warfare has been almost entirely recreated, and indeed, many devices have been invented, constructed and become obsolete, without ever having had a chance to show what they were worth in actual combat. Should the great powers become involved in warfare, however, there is no doubt that numerous mechanical devices, till the present kept secret, will appear in various lines of fighting machinery, and it is not impossible that, as in the days of the Monitor, armaments and equipments upon which millions have been spent will find themselves relegated to the curiosities shop over night.

The restless ingenuity of the inventor is almost as much of a bane to the leaders of commercial warfare as to the lords of militarism. It has been said, and doubtless with truth, that the managers of the great commercial combinations consider the possibilities of superseding inventions as the greatest element of risk in their calculations. From this point of attack industrial combinations are almost helpless, for no degree of business skill can avail when whole plants are rendered obsolete by the advent of some new device or process which may supplant the entire method of manufacture, if not the product itself. It is this equalizing element which may, in obedience to the law of supply and demand, check to a great extent the growth of commercial combinations, intended to control production, prices and business. The very success of a business combination sets inventors to work devising methods, processes and machines to accomplish similar results by other means, and no man knows what a day may bring forth when the tide of invention is turned in any given direction. The natural laws of the physical forces must control in the end, and it is to those laws that the development of the commercial side, as well as the technical portion of human industry, must look for ultimate guidance.

JURORS MAY ATTEND CHURCH.

Religious Observances No Disqualification in Murder Trials.

The court of appeals, in its recent decision affirming judgment convicting Giuseppe Constantini of murder in the first degree in killing Pietro Galliotti at Utica, held, among other things, that the fact that during the trial the jury, in charge of officers, attended church, where the sermon was upon the prevalence of crime, was insufficient to justify a new trial, when it was shown that the officers, as soon as they discovered that anything might be said which could prejudice the jury, at once left the church with them, and that the trial judge thereupon stated to the jury, and at the close of the trial charged them, that no opinion uttered by the preacher should have the slightest weight upon their minds in forming their verdict. The evidence, says the New York Times, showed that the murder was committed in an affray, and that there was an interval of from half a minute to two minutes for deliberation while the defendant was threatening the fatal act. The court held it was not an error for the judge, in charging the jury upon the question whether there was sufficient time for such a degree of deliberation and premeditation as would constitute the crime, to illustrate a minute of time by his watch. The power conferred on the court of appeals by sections 528 and 542 of the code of criminal procedure to order a new trial in capital cases was not to be exercised upon the mere appearance of some error to which no exception was taken, unless the substantial rights of the accused could be seen to have been affected by it.

AT THE PRESIDENT'S HOME

A number of miners from outside districts, headed by a brass band, marched to North Industry, near Canton, Ohio, the President's old home, and succeeded in getting the miners to quit work and agree to mine no more coal until the present mining troubles are settled. The coal miners, who have now been striking over the country today on an average for their labor, demand an advance of ten cents per ton for the coal which they mine. It would seem but common justice to accede to their demands; but the coal barons, who are accustomed to having things their own way, are obdurate and will make no concessions to the starving miners. In view of this deplorable state of affairs and the fact that miners in the vicinity of the President's home are engaged in the strike, it would not be out of place for the President to tender his good offices by issuing a proclamation to the coal barons. Some object of this character might have the desired effect; at any rate it could not be gainsaid.

Gentlemen:—The party of which, through the influence of the coal and other trusts, I am the acknowledged head and front, has for years proclaimed to the world the high tariff, which enhances the prices of all protected commodities to the consumer, is imposed for the purpose of increasing the wages of labor. Next to maintaining the gold standard, the tariff is of paramount importance to the coal trust and all other combinations whose object is to enrich themselves by taking advantage of the opportunities afforded them by the tariff act which recently received my approval. To insure the passage of this act at the earliest moment possible I convened Congress in extraordinary session and, as you are fully informed, my trusted lieutenants, Messrs. Reed, Dingley, Aldrich and Allison, embodied in the bill which they reported to Congress, and which they gave the representative of the common herd no opportunity to amend or discuss, the schedules prepared by the various trusts, that of which you are members among the number. As you were deriving a considerable profit from the coal mines, which you own and operate, under the tariff imposed by the Wilson bill and as that tariff has been increased forty cents per ton by the schedule which you prepared yourselves and which was incorporated in the act which recently received my approval, it is not unreasonable, though it will reduce your profits somewhat, that you should divide the increased profits with the miners in your employ.

It is true, as I am informed by Hon. Marcus Hanna, who trained me for the Presidential race, and through your munificent contributions to the campaign fund, which enabled him to place money where it would do the most good, achieved such a remarkable victory by colonizing voters in the doubtful States, that you were promised opportunity to recoup in the event of my election, and though I do not desire to be understood as repudiating any of the promises made by Mr. Hanna, as nothing could be further from my thoughts at the present time, I respectfully suggest, in view of the ensuing elections, especially that in Ohio, in which is involved the election of Mr. Hanna to the Senate, that for the present and until after the fall elections, you divide the profits of coal mining, which have been doubled by the increased duty on coal, with the miners."

WILLIAM McKinley.

ANNUAL PRISON CONGRESS.

The annual Prison Congress will convene in Austin, Texas, October 18th and will continue until the 20th, inclusive. Governor Culverton of Texas, writes Governor Sadler that it is scarcely necessary to suggest the great importance of this Congress and the far-reaching effects its deliberation may have upon the prison population of the several states. One of the chief purposes of prosecution for crimes bearing the reformation of criminals no more humane and laudable work can command public attention than the care and treatment of convicts with the view of restoring them to the ranks of good citizenship.

The State of Nevada has made no appropriation for sending delegates to the Congress. While the Nevada Prison, like all institutions of the kind, is expensive, the people would probably object to appropriating any of the public funds for such a purpose, yet it might be money well expended. There is no remunerative employment in the State for those confined in the State Prison. The shoe making business did not pay and there is no demand for stone quarried and dressed at the institution. The prisoners make their own clothes and shoes, cook their own food and keep their cells clean, and keep the prison partly supplied with fuel from the adjacent sagebrush covered hills, but they produce nothing and manufacture nothing that is marketable. Possibly suggestions may be made at the Congress as nearly all, if not all the states will be represented, which if acted upon might save the State several thousand dollars a year by utilizing the labor at the prison. However, there are no funds from which the Warden of the Prison, or anybody else for that matter, can draw to pay expenses to the Congress and prisoners will have to be maintained in idleness at the expense of the tax payers.

SAN FRANCISCO is just at present having a hard time with her schools and school system, or rather the new Board of Education is finding it rather difficult to get along and at the same time to remember all its political friends. Teachers of years standing and experience, who considered themselves secure in their positions, have suddenly been ousted from office and emoluments to please Mr. Finney or some other ward boss and heel. What with dismissal, new appointments and the influence that will be brought to bear on all sides, to say nothing of a readjustment of salaries, the new Board will soon have a hornet's nest about its ears.

UNITED STATES SENATOR QUAY of Pennsylvania has announced his intention to visit the Hawaiian Islands. He will make a careful study of the country, its prospects and advantages or disadvantages, which would accrue to this country on annexation. He intimated that he was going as a representative of the Committee of Foreign Affairs and would submit a voluminous report to be read when the annexation treaty comes up for consideration.

The latest news from Honolulu is to the effect that United States Minister Sewall will raise the American flag and declare a protectorate over the Island. In the steamer Moana, due there last Friday, brought word that Congress had not passed the annexation treaty. What is the use of Congress wasting time on the annexation question when a Minister can do the business, as Mr. Sewall proposed to do it without any action of Congress?

It is claimed that we have another Klondyke in the mountain districts of Peru. Recent discoveries made in that country have unearthed untold riches and a prospecting party, who are at present in the heart of the Peruvian mountains have reported enormously rich gold fields in that part of South America. Two steamers have been fitted out in San Francisco and will soon leave for the newly discovered gold districts.

Ann Arbor, Mich., has dealt with the tramp nuisance quite effectively. For a long time it was overrun with tramps, as the people were generous givers. But the citizens banded together and arranged to send every tramp to the wood yard, where he could get a good meal and lodging by cutting one-sixth of a cord of wood. As a result, scarcely a tramp is seen, and it has required the past year but $45 to run the concern.

The strikers continue to gain recruits at Pittsburgh and vicinity. The miners at Plum creek, a stronghold of the operators, have nearly all gone out, and it is expected that the Du Armitt miners will join the strikers in a few days.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

Fields' Seminary, an old landmark of the city of Oakland, was destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning.

A stamp occurred in wheat prices at New York yesterday. The price fell three cents a bushel and 1½d in Liverpool futures.

George Bassett, a paroled prisoner from San Quentin, has turned out to be a dangerous highwayman at Los Angeles and has been arrested.

Judge Campbell of San Francisco yesterday held Theodore A. Fiegel to answer to seven charges of embezzlement and two of forgery. Bail was fixed at $38,000.

The strike leaders say that next week will close the New York and Cleveland Company's mines and the strikers will move on into the Westmoreland fields and local camps.

A heavy rain storm occurred at Colorado Springs Wednesday night. The water stood from six to ten inches deep on many of the principal streets during the storm. Heavy storms also prevailed at Denver.

Postal facilities have been arranged for the hosts that go to the Alaskan gold fields. There will be one round trip per month to Circle City until July 1st next year. The service will carry only letter mail and the route will be by the Chilkoot pass.

The will of the late Chas. Crocker was admitted to probate at San Francisco yesterday. The estate is estimated to be worth three millions, but it is claimed to be worth three times that amount. W. Easton was appointed guardian of the minor children.

National Guard officers were at Turtle Creek Wednesday and it became reported about that they were looking for a place to make camp should the troops be called out. The report was neither affirmed nor denied. An immense demonstration is billed for Saturday evening at Camp Determination and it is estimated that thousands will be present.

The striking miners had an experience on Wednesday evening that created consternation in their camp at Turtle Creek, Penn. It came in the form of a terrific wind and electrical storm. At Sandy Creek tree under which a group of the miners took shelter was struck by a bolt of lightning and shattered into matchwood. Vennel Coffin and Geo. Sedgewick were shocked into insensibility and are in a critical condition. The wildest excitement prevailed, as the storm came upon them so suddenly and their tents and trees were the only shelter.

At the DeArmitt mines the strikers

FROM DAWSON CITY.
A Young Girl's Experience Graphically Described.

E. W. Englebrecht of Seattle, a cousin of Mr. Cowlesman, H. J. Thres, writes a graphic letter from Dawson to his parents in San Francisco, the details of which were published in Wednesday's San Francisco Chronicle. Mr. Englebrecht writes for the gold fields with the first expedition that started from Seattle.

At 12 m., he says, snow and ice was found, which rendered travelling unsafe and a continuous rain combined to make things most wretched. With wet clothes clinging to his chilled body, one was compelled to travel.

The trip was full of the most terrible hardships and a journey that many made, in one day took us ten. This brought us to the mouth of the canyon, where we found nothing but soft snow. The canyon was only passable in places, and at times we had to build bridges from rock to rock.

If I and many others had known anything of the hardships and exposure we never would have gone. My misery was indescribable. I suffered from nausea, not being able to accustom myself to the food. The everlasting odor of bacon and beans clung to everything.

The poorest hut in civilization seems like a palace, but people never know when they are well off. I think the United States would do well to send its convicts to the Yukon and by the time they would have arrived there they would have reformed. I have worked hard all my life, but it was nothing compared to what one has to accomplish on a trip like this."

He then goes on and describes the condition of the men. Laughter or jollity of any kind is never heard, but in its place are tired wan faces and on every side is snow and ice.

"At Kluadyke the pay is $15 per day, and no trouble to get it. Money is like sand. Gold is packed off in sacks. If one bears of millions being found in one claim, it is to be believed. It makes one dizzy to see the gold, but the life is hardly fit for a dog. The hardships are something terrible, yet I will not remain behind, or I will never return."

Thos. Alley Killed and His Wife Receives the News While Passing Through Reno.

Tom Alley, well known in Reno and Carson and of late a conductor on the P. P. road, running out of Stockton, was killed Wednesday by a train, while on his way to Bakersfield. Mrs. Alley had bidden good-bye to her husband on that day and he left in the performance of his duty, while she with her three children took the train for Nevada to visit relatives at Hawthorne. At Verdi the conductor of the train that Mrs. Alley was on received a telegram announcing the fact of her husband's death and telling him to break the sad news to her, so that she could return by the next train. He could not muster up the courage to tell her until they reached Reno, when he enlisted the aid of W. D. Phillips and others to assist him in the task. Mrs. Alley was called into the ticket office and the news broken to her as gently as possible. After the poor woman had been told of the accident, those present stood with bowed heads while she held her three little ones close to her and gave way to uncontrollable grief. It was a sad sight and all present were deeply affected.

Mrs. Alley returned west yesterday morning.

Fistic Probabilities.

Dan Stuart has denied that there is the slightest probability of him running any fistic carnival this year in Nevada. He adds that the cold which settles down among the hills makes it impossible to pull off any fights in the State after the 1st of October.

The Carson News says "that Stuart likely knows when he can draw the crowds and is using good judgment." In referring to Brady's dispatches regarding a carnival, the News says:

"Mr. Brady is a very wise man when it comes to managing theatrical ventures, but during his short stay in Carson he evidently did not size up the people right. The answer to his question, "What will Carson give?" could probably be given in cipher only. It is further claimed that Carson will not have her leg pulled for any donation to his pocket. He is welcome to come if he desires 'and hold' his carnival as there will be no objection, but Carson will not put up a single cent."

A Runaway Accident.

Miss Doilee Haydon and Miss Whitty had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday in a runaway accident. The horse they were driving suddenly began kicking and running on Sierra street opposite Hymers' stable and finally dashed down the street and became uncontrollable. At the rear of the Investment building the buggy collided with a hitching post, breaking the shafts and liberating the animal and the young ladies were thrown from the buggy. They escaped injury, but for a moment or so had quite an exciting experience and were terribly frightened. The damage to the buggy was comparatively slight.

A Saddened Home.

Miss Annie Greeno died at 4 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of her parents in Long Valley. She has been an invalid for some time. Miss Greeno was a very popular young lady and her death is especially sad on account of her youth.

Miss Katie Robb took the train yesterday morning for Long Valley to be with and aid in comforting the bereaved family.

UP TO DATE.

An Indian Woman Who Is Up with the Times.
She Wears Artistically Fashioned Bloomers and Is the Wife of a Rich Merchant of the Lone Star State.

The newest of new women, and yet one of the oldest, if the aborigines may be classed as "old," was seen on the streets of St. Louis a few days ago. She was a splendid specimen of womanhood, strikingly handsome and superbly proportioned, and was dressed in bloomers, although they differed in style and cut from any worn by the St. Louis bicycle girls. She was an Indian woman, the full-blooded daughter of a chief of the Sioux tribe, one of the most fierce and most bloodthirsty bands which ever troubled the settlers of the west, and her dress was one of the most peculiar ever seen on the streets of a great city. A dark hat of modern style half hid a quantity of raven-black hair on her splendid head, and a long ulster of the most recent fashion enveloped her, outlining her fine figure to advantage. But below this there flapped out as she walked the most remarkable part of her dress, and that which attracted the most attention, her bloomers. They were cut long and straight, like men's trousers, and wore small at the bottom, so that they were rather close about the ankles. These bloomers were of black silk, and the inner and outer seams were decorated with four or five rows of beads of various colors and worked in fanciful design. Flowers, leaves and animals ran up and down the side, and inside the bloomers, or trousers, a thing to attract attention elsewhere, and especially on so handsome a woman. Her complexion was olive-like, like that of a Spanish girl, and clearly her cheeks were rosy, and her voice low, but her eyes were dark and piercing, and seemed to look through one. But with all her fanciful dress and her name of Talcónqua, she is the wife of one of the richest merchants of the great southwest, and is on her way to Europe, where she will doubtless be received by royalty.

Dr. Gibson was telegraphed for from Wadsworth at late hour last night to attend Ben Douglass, who had accidentally shot himself yesterday. Mr. Douglass is on a ranch near St. Olair, Churchill county, and the particulars of the accident could not be learned, nor was it known whether the injured man could be brought into Wadsworth or not. All that could be ascertained was that he was injured about the stomach and lungs and in a critical condition. Dr. Gibson took a late freight train for Wadsworth and he probably took a private conveyance from there in case the injured man could not be brought to Wadsworth or not for Little Grizzly.

Judge Webster, accompanied by his daughters, the Misses Stella and Bessie, and their guests, the Misses Nellie Hyatt, Bessie Evans and Maud Patterson, also the Judge's nephews, Willie Pearson, will leave for Little Grizzly Valley this morning on a camping trip of three weeks duration. The Judge supplied a bountiful larder and the young ladies anticipate a delightful time. The Judge will rustle the wood and game and says he thinks the girls will manage between them, to do the cooking.

The Tahoe Railroad.

The proposed railroad from Truckee to Lake Tahoe seems to have fallen through for this reason and probably for good. Mr. Bliss, the projector of the road, after obtaining a careful survey and accurate estimates, reports that he will do nothing more for the time being. It is said that the cost of the proposed road is far in excess of what was at first thought, hence the abandonment of the project. It is believed that a broad gauge road would not pay for construction, but a narrow gauge may be built some time.

Have Salted for the Gold Fields.

The Bulletin of Wednesday published the names of the passengers booked for Dyea on the steamer Noyo. Among them were the names of Chas. Lake and Pete Rasmussen. The boys had intended to go on the steamer Custer, in which General Powning was interested, but it seems that a combination was made between the two steamers for only one to sail, there not being enough applicants for passage for both.

The boys by this time are enjoying all the novelties of a long sea voyage.

New Wire From San Francisco to Chicago.

The Western Union Telegraph Company is arranging to string an additional wire from San Francisco to Chicago. The wire will be of copper and of large size. It is proposed to make a record in stringing and having it in working order in a certain stipulated time. It will be over 2,400 miles long and will be ready for use before winter sets in. A largely increasing business on this coast makes the new wire a necessity.

The Fire Bell.

An alarm at a little before 8 o'clock called out the fire department, but their services were not required. The occasion of the alarm was the burning of a lace curtain at the old Comstock residence. The curtain was blown over a lighted lamp on a table near by and quickly blazed up. The fire was put out by occupants of the house and the damage was nominal.
